Results Matter! Help Us Get Results!

No matter what we do in life, it takes effort to get results. For more than 30 years, the New Global Economy saw nations of the world investing in industries that would employ their people and expand their economies. We see the success of foreign countries every time we go shopping and look at labels on products. Thirty years after the New Global Economy moved forward we see that too many of America's long established industries opened up manufacturing overseas, or they contracted with companies in foreign countries to produce what could and should still be made in the U.S.A.

One endless example of jobs lost to foreign countries is the long-respected clothing industry which employed millions of American workers for more than a century. It is unfortunate to report that today the majority of the clothing sold in the U.S.A. is imported from other countries, while American workers lose income and stability. Working toward 50% of everything sold in America being made in America is more than possible if we support products made and assembled in the U.S.A. As businesses expand in the U.S.A. millions of Americans will be back on the job, designing, producing, distributing, marketing, and selling every possible product on the market. Our supporters are doing a great job promoting the 50/50 balance. It would be much easier for us to achieve success if our national leaders joined our efforts and focused their attention on the needs and concerns of the American people.

I urge you to go out shopping determined to support American made products FIRST. I know it's not always easy, but as you shop, you will find more American made products in circulation than were available just a few years ago. When shopping, speak up in support of the Buy American Made Campaign so that business owners and store personnel see that customers are willing to bypass stores that don't offer a reasonable selection of American made products.

It's time to shift the New Global Economy so it benefits America! With your help we continue to create a win-win situation for American workers and America's economy. Kindly spread the word and spend more of your dollars on products that reflect the workmanship of American workers.

Parents Need to Speak Up

As we continue to promote the restoration of Trade and Industrial Arts Programs in America's schools, I urge parents to speak up now for the well-being of their children. The loss of so many Vocational Education Programs has affected the future of America's youth and America's economy. If schools had prepared young people for the job market with general hands-on experience, America would never have lost so many private sector jobs to outsourcing. Students educated in the Trades and Industrial Arts would be ready to apply for jobs upon their graduation. This would have made it easier for America's industries to remain in America because they would have had skilled workers available to help keep businesses running and would have permitted them to compete with foreign competitors.

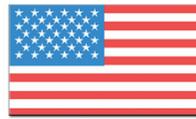

After looking at present day job opportunities, parents agree it is necessary for America's schools to stress both academic and vocational courses equally. I don't know why the Trade and Industrial Arts Programs were downsized 25 years ago, but I know that America's young people would presently have more job opportunities now if the Trade and Industrial Art Programs were still fully operational. Restoration of these programs requires that America's taxpayers contact their elected officials and school boards so action can be taken as soon as possible. Contact your elected officials here: <http://www.usa.gov/Agencies.shtml>.

Thanks for helping us promote jobs in America and the need to expand Vocational Education Programs. Send your comments and suggestions to: Michael@AmericanWorkersRadio.com.

Increased Manufacturing Means More Jobs for Americans!

If anyone asked you where particular products are available for sale, I'm sure you could offer them some suggestions on where to shop. If you were asked which stores offered the largest selection of American made products, could you answer that question with some authority? Changing the lack of knowledge about what is actually made in America has been one of the major goals of the Buy American Made Campaign. We continue to ask our supporters to look at labels and spend more of their money on items made in America so we can keep the jobs we presently have and create more jobs to meet the demands of America's consumers.

Seeking out and purchasing American Made Items FIRST will help maintain and restore American Industries and put millions of people back to work!

In recent years we have focused our efforts on the fact that too many products are being made outside of America and not enough are being manufactured in the United States of America. As we contacted national elected leaders we were often told that we live in a FREE MARKET ECONOMY so it's difficult to create laws to keep businesses in America. That being said, there is NO REASON why the American people can't create their own demand for American made products. Every time WE buy American made WE not only help private sector businesses remain operational in the U.S.A. but also creates an ongoing demand for products being made in America right now. Most importantly, why can't America's national leaders help businesses in America be more competitive by offering them long-term tax incentives?

After 30 years of America being flooded by cheaper foreign imports, it's time for the American people to take charge of their own destiny and support the businesses and industries that are employing Americans. It's hard to understand how we allowed it to reach the point where 90% or more of products traditionally made in America are NOW being imported from overseas.

As we promote our 2015 theme "GROW JOBS IN AMERICA", I urge you to take the Buy American Made Challenge and direct all of your buying power in support of American workers from the point of production to the point of sale. Thanks for promoting our efforts! America Needs US!

Restore Trade and Industrial Arts Programs

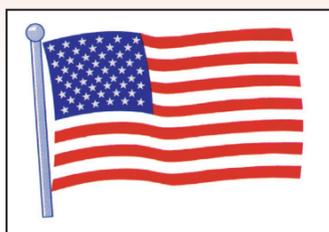

There continues to be an outstanding response to the American Workers Radio broadcasts discussing EDUCATION in America. Listeners agree that every junior high and high school student must be offered the opportunity to participate in TRADE programs like: Plumbing, Electrical, Heating and Air Conditioning, Mechanics, Carpentry, Automotive, just to name a few as well as Industrial Arts Programs like: Engineering, Drafting, Clothing Design and Manufacturing, Furniture, Appliances, Welding and dozens of others that reflect life-long skills needed by America's businesses.

25 years ago, junior high and high school students were offered academic courses as well as Trade and Industrial Arts programs during their regular school day. Today, America's young people need to have access to trade programs that will offer them hands-on experience and future employment possibilities.

In the next few years there will be a critical need to replace skilled workers who will be retiring. If America does not have enough young workers to fill these jobs, this will be another reason for businesses to outsource manufacturing around the world and choose to downsize their domestic operations. We can't allow this to happen so it is up to America's taxpayers to contact their national and local elected officials and local school boards to voice their support for the restoration of Trade and Industrial Arts Programs in every school possible. When you call, ask them for a written reply and let me know how you make out so I can share your responses with our supporters. Email me at: Michael@AmericanWorkersRadio.com.
